

Account Operations Manager (m/f/d)

Description

Would you like to shape the future of air freight logistics with us?

Are you interested in taking yourself, our start-up BlueBox Systems and air freight logistics to the next level? You are curious and enthusiastic about solving complex tasks? You want to influence how we achieve our business goals? What others see as uncertainty, you see as an opportunity to learn and be proactive?

You are a team player and understand that your own personal development is related to the growth of the company?

Then you are the one we are looking for!

Responsibilities

This is what you will do

- You support the entire international sales process of BlueBox Systems.
 - You are responsible for Insight Sales, contacting new customers and transferring prospects to the sales team.
 - You coordinate and support piloting and testing phases.
 - After the test phase you coordinate the further support of the prospect and the onboarding as a new customer.
- You support the global customers of BlueBox Systems and are the first contact person for all questions.
 - You answer customer questions by mail and phone on operational topics and ensure the excellent operational performance of our service.
 - You are the interface between our customers and our IT.
 - You are responsible for the preparation of invoices.
- You maintain our BlueBox Systems social media accounts.
- You work closely with the management and create meaningful data and reports about our company's development.
- You are responsible for the continuous optimization of operational processes, working cross-functionally with our teams.

Qualifications

You are bringing:

- You are customer-oriented: the satisfaction of your customers is your top priority.
- You bring an excellent way of working with the right balance between attention to detail and diligence.
- You are also a pragmatic problem solver and always focused on the result.
- You have an eye for interpreting quantitative data, gaining actionable insights, and developing plans to improve processes.
- You enjoy working in cross-functional teams and are a team player
- Your English and German skills are very good (at least language level C1 or C2).
